SEVENTH GRADER**

Michaela Wasson has been doing her chores, seventh grader Michaela Wasson (left) and Casey Peters, 5, are the sons of Ashley Farr and Tobey Peters.

---

Sunny Saturday brings outtown

IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY in the neighborhood when a neighbor helps a neighbor. Doug Horn (above) pulled dandelions in a neighbor’s yard on East Ash Street. Aladdin tulips (below left) took in the sun on Saturday on North Penn Avenue: the high was 59.

Two brothers played in their yard (below right) on the same afternoon. Zane Schneider, 3, (left) and Casey Peters, 5, are the sons of Ashley Farr and Toby Peters.

---

Sale of out-of-state turkey licenses halted

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Easter Vigil Mass

FATHER CARLOS RUIZ SANTOS said the Easter Vigil Mass at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Oberlin on Saturday. Five worshipers joined the pastor to help with the service. The church had 173 candles lit, one for each family in the three parishes of Oberlin, Selden and Lecriville. FATHER CARLOS said an Easter Mass with four parishioners helping plus those on line.

---

Comissioners hear health update

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Remember to follow recycling rules

It’s Earth Day next Wednesday, and what better way to show you love the world you live in than by correctly recycling materials from your household.

There are a few things you can do and keep your social distance,” said Gaylen Huntley, Decatur County noxious weed-control director, who was asking 4-H members to wear over their N95 masks to make them last longer, as there is a shortage of N95 masks.

According to Huntley, medical workers are having to reuse their safety equipment during this pandemic.

---

Girl sews masks for health-care workers

By BRENDIA BRETH

In between schoolwork at Decatur County Junior High and home, seventh grader Michaela Wasson is doing her part during the coronavirus pandemic, sewing cotton masks for health-care workers.

---

City Council to hold video meeting

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Commissioners hear health update

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Remember to follow recycling rules

It’s Earth Day next Wednesday, and what better way to show you love the world you live in than by correctly recycling materials from your household.

There are a few things you can do and keep your social distance,” said Gaylen Huntley, Decatur County noxious weed-control director, who was asking 4-H members to wear over their N95 masks to make them last longer, as there is a shortage of N95 masks.

According to Huntley, medical workers are having to reuse their safety equipment during this pandemic.

---

Girl sews masks for health-care workers

By BRENDIA BRETH

In between schoolwork at Decatur County Junior High and home, seventh grader Michaela Wasson is doing her part during the coronavirus pandemic, sewing cotton masks for health-care workers.

---

City Council to hold video meeting

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Remember to follow recycling rules

It’s Earth Day next Wednesday, and what better way to show you love the world you live in than by correctly recycling materials from your household.

There are a few things you can do and keep your social distance,” said Gaylen Huntley, Decatur County noxious weed-control director, who was asking 4-H members to wear over their N95 masks to make them last longer, as there is a shortage of N95 masks.

According to Huntley, medical workers are having to reuse their safety equipment during this pandemic.

---

Girl sews masks for health-care workers

By BRENDIA BRETH

In between schoolwork at Decatur County Junior High and home, seventh grader Michaela Wasson is doing her part during the coronavirus pandemic, sewing cotton masks for health-care workers.

---

City Council to hold video meeting

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Remember to follow recycling rules

It’s Earth Day next Wednesday, and what better way to show you love the world you live in than by correctly recycling materials from your household.

There are a few things you can do and keep your social distance,” said Gaylen Huntley, Decatur County noxious weed-control director, who was asking 4-H members to wear over their N95 masks to make them last longer, as there is a shortage of N95 masks.

According to Huntley, medical workers are having to reuse their safety equipment during this pandemic.

---

Girl sews masks for health-care workers

By BRENDIA BRETH

In between schoolwork at Decatur County Junior High and home, seventh grader Michaela Wasson is doing her part during the coronavirus pandemic, sewing cotton masks for health-care workers.

---

City Council to hold video meeting

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.

---

Remember to follow recycling rules

It’s Earth Day next Wednesday, and what better way to show you love the world you live in than by correctly recycling materials from your household.

There are a few things you can do and keep your social distance,” said Gaylen Huntley, Decatur County noxious weed-control director, who was asking 4-H members to wear over their N95 masks to make them last longer, as there is a shortage of N95 masks.

According to Huntley, medical workers are having to reuse their safety equipment during this pandemic.

---

Girl sews masks for health-care workers

By BRENDIA BRETH

In between schoolwork at Decatur County Junior High and home, seventh grader Michaela Wasson is doing her part during the coronavirus pandemic, sewing cotton masks for health-care workers.

---

City Council to hold video meeting

The Oberlin City Council plans to meet mostly by video conference at 5 p.m. Thursday and will discuss several items from the administrative agenda.

These include ways to get internet installed in town, the 2019 school students pick up trash at the free dump week shouldn’t be a problem with local distancing. The supervisor also asked if during the summer time, they had high-altitude work. There is a 10-foot clearance, so there will be 5 for p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the upstairs meeting room in the Tax/Utility building. It’s also, to should video conference.